Were you born under a Star Sign?

Preface

Being born under a Star sign is an undeniable advantage if you want to improve your life and make your wishes come true. Also, check in this book if a Star sign is watching over you.

But even if this is not the case at the moment, there are solutions to compensate for this and to make a Star sign shine for you or to rekindle your Star sign which is, in the worst case, only dormant!

Beware of appearances! Whether you think you have a Star sign watching over you or not, don't rejoice too quickly in the first case... and don't despair in the second case.

Nothing is ever taken for granted, nor is it definitive, as you will see in this book because, according to astrology and many personal development paths, you can change your life at any time. The first step is to want it, then to act to achieve this.

INTRODUCTION

SEARCHING FOR YOUR STAR SIGN

"Am I born under a Star Sign?"

This is THE question that almost everyone asks themselves, at one time or another, in their existence, in one form or another, even if it is often with different expressions depending on cultures, societies and times!

"Do I or will I have luck, one day or another, in my life, or not, and why am I not lucky today?" This is a question common to all human beings on Earth.

Unfortunately, most of the time, a great majority of people do not go further than asking themselves this question and are satisfied with the observation that they have or do not have a Star sign!

Those who think they have one content themselves with taking advantage of the opportunities that come their way... or waiting for them to come their way.

People who think they don't have a Star sign resign themselves to it as if it were a foregone conclusion!

As you will see, the "ones who have a Star sign" are wrong to adopt a passive attitude, while the "ones who don't have a Star sign" can always create opportunities to make their Star sign shine.

A question of attitude

Both attitudes are to be regretted because being born under a Star sign or not is a concept that is not really understood by those who think they have one as well as those who think they don't!

Indeed, most of the time, those who think they were born under a Star sign do nothing more than being happy for it, often feeling a small sense of superiority over those who think the opposite.

Consequently, they wait for good opportunities to come their way, take advantage of them... or not, and wait for the next manifestation of luck! But sometimes they will wait a long time because of their false interpretation of what a Star sign is!

On the other hand, those who think they don't have a Star sign, often limit themselves to deploring it, envy those who apparently have one and go on with their daily lives with fear and anxiety, wondering what will happen to them next!

These two behaviors are not recommended in either case. The little story in chapter 2 will illustrate this statement wonderfully, which you should remember throughout this book.

Chapter 1

WHAT IS A STAR SIGN?

The notion of a Star sign is a concept taken from astrology according to which the conjunction of the planets, in other words, their respective disposition in relation to each other, on the day of your birth, is of prime importance and influences the rest of your life.

The astronomy point of view

In astronomy, the planets of the solar system are often cited according to their distance from the Sun.

Thus, quoting only those used in astrology, from the closest to the farthest from the Sun, we have: Mercury, Venus, Earth, Mars, Jupiter, Saturn, Uranus, Neptune, Pluto.

These all revolve around the Sun... which is included in the "planets" that influence us at the time of our birth and throughout our lives, according to astrology.

Depending on their distance from the Sun, the planets describe a longer or shorter distance to return to their starting point. We say that the planets are in orbit around the Sun, the orbit being the curved trajectory described by a planet in relation to the sun.

The revolution of a planet is the time that a planet takes to turn around the Sun. The rotation is the time it takes to turn on itself.

The planets are always in motion and in different positions from each other at any time.

Thus, the revolutions of a planet range from 87.969 days for Mercury to 90,465 days for the most distant: Pluto.

In other words, it takes Mercury only about 88 days to go around the Sun, while it takes Pluto more than 90,465 days, or a little less than 250 years!

In comparison, the Earth takes a little more than 365 days (365.256 days exactly) to complete its revolution, hence our annual calendar.

The astrology point of view

Involuntarily, the astronomy comes to the rescue of astrology because it has demonstrated that the planets are always in motion and that they describe trajectories in space that vary according to their distance from the Sun. We can see this every day with the changing position of the moon in the sky.

Astrology takes into account the movements of the planets but also the influences they have on us, unlike astronomy which does not attribute any spiritual or psychological characteristics to the planets.

This is an astonishing reaction of total refusal if one underlines that astronomers admit the influence of the Moon on the tides!

The attraction power of the Moon explains, in fact, what is universally recognized: the movement of the tides.

It is also well known that the behavior of some people changes during the nights of the Full Moon.

There would be, for example, according to some statistics, an increase in violence and crime during Full Moon nights!

If the Moon has an influence on the tides, why not consider the hypothesis that it can also have an action on human behavior?

Without going as far as spiritual explanations of the Moon's influence on our personality, we could even defend this thesis only on the physiological level.

Indeed, why would the Moon have an impact on the oceans and not on our body composed, for an adult, of 60 to 75% water?!

We even go from 90% of our body weight in water for a three-day-old embryo to 50% for an elderly person!

Then why not admit the influence of the Moon on the body but also on the human spirit because the two are interconnected and linked?

A story of astrological dosage

According to astrology, each planet has precise psychological characteristics that influence us since our birth.

The planets are, as we have just seen, in constant motion and in different positions in relation to each other.

They thereby form different fluctuating conjunctions which vary permanently and send continuously beams of influences, in other words, streams or flows of vibrations, both positive and negative, towards the Earth, thus towards us.

We "receive" at any moment a set of positive and negative influences not from one planet but from all the planets according to their respective positions in relation to each other and especially on the day of our birth.

The spiritual and psychological characteristics attributed to the planets form a mixture of positive and negative attributes that we inherit at birth. This provides tendencies and indications about our future life, our character, our defects, our qualities...

Thus, depending on the conjunction of the planets at the very moment of our birth, we are all influenced by planetary characteristics that are more or less positive or negative.

In summary: we all benefit at birth from a more or less Star sign... depending on the sum of the negative and positive influences that were manifested at that moment. The power of our Star sign is therefore the synthesis of this sum of influences.

Star sign or not

Thus, if at the moment of our birth the balance tilted towards positive influences at the level of our astral conjunction, our birth and our life would be placed under a Star sign.

If, on the other hand, our birth scale tilted more towards negative influences, we would be under the influence of negative vibrations and not under a Star sign.

This determines our character at birth. However, even for astrology, things are not set in stone.

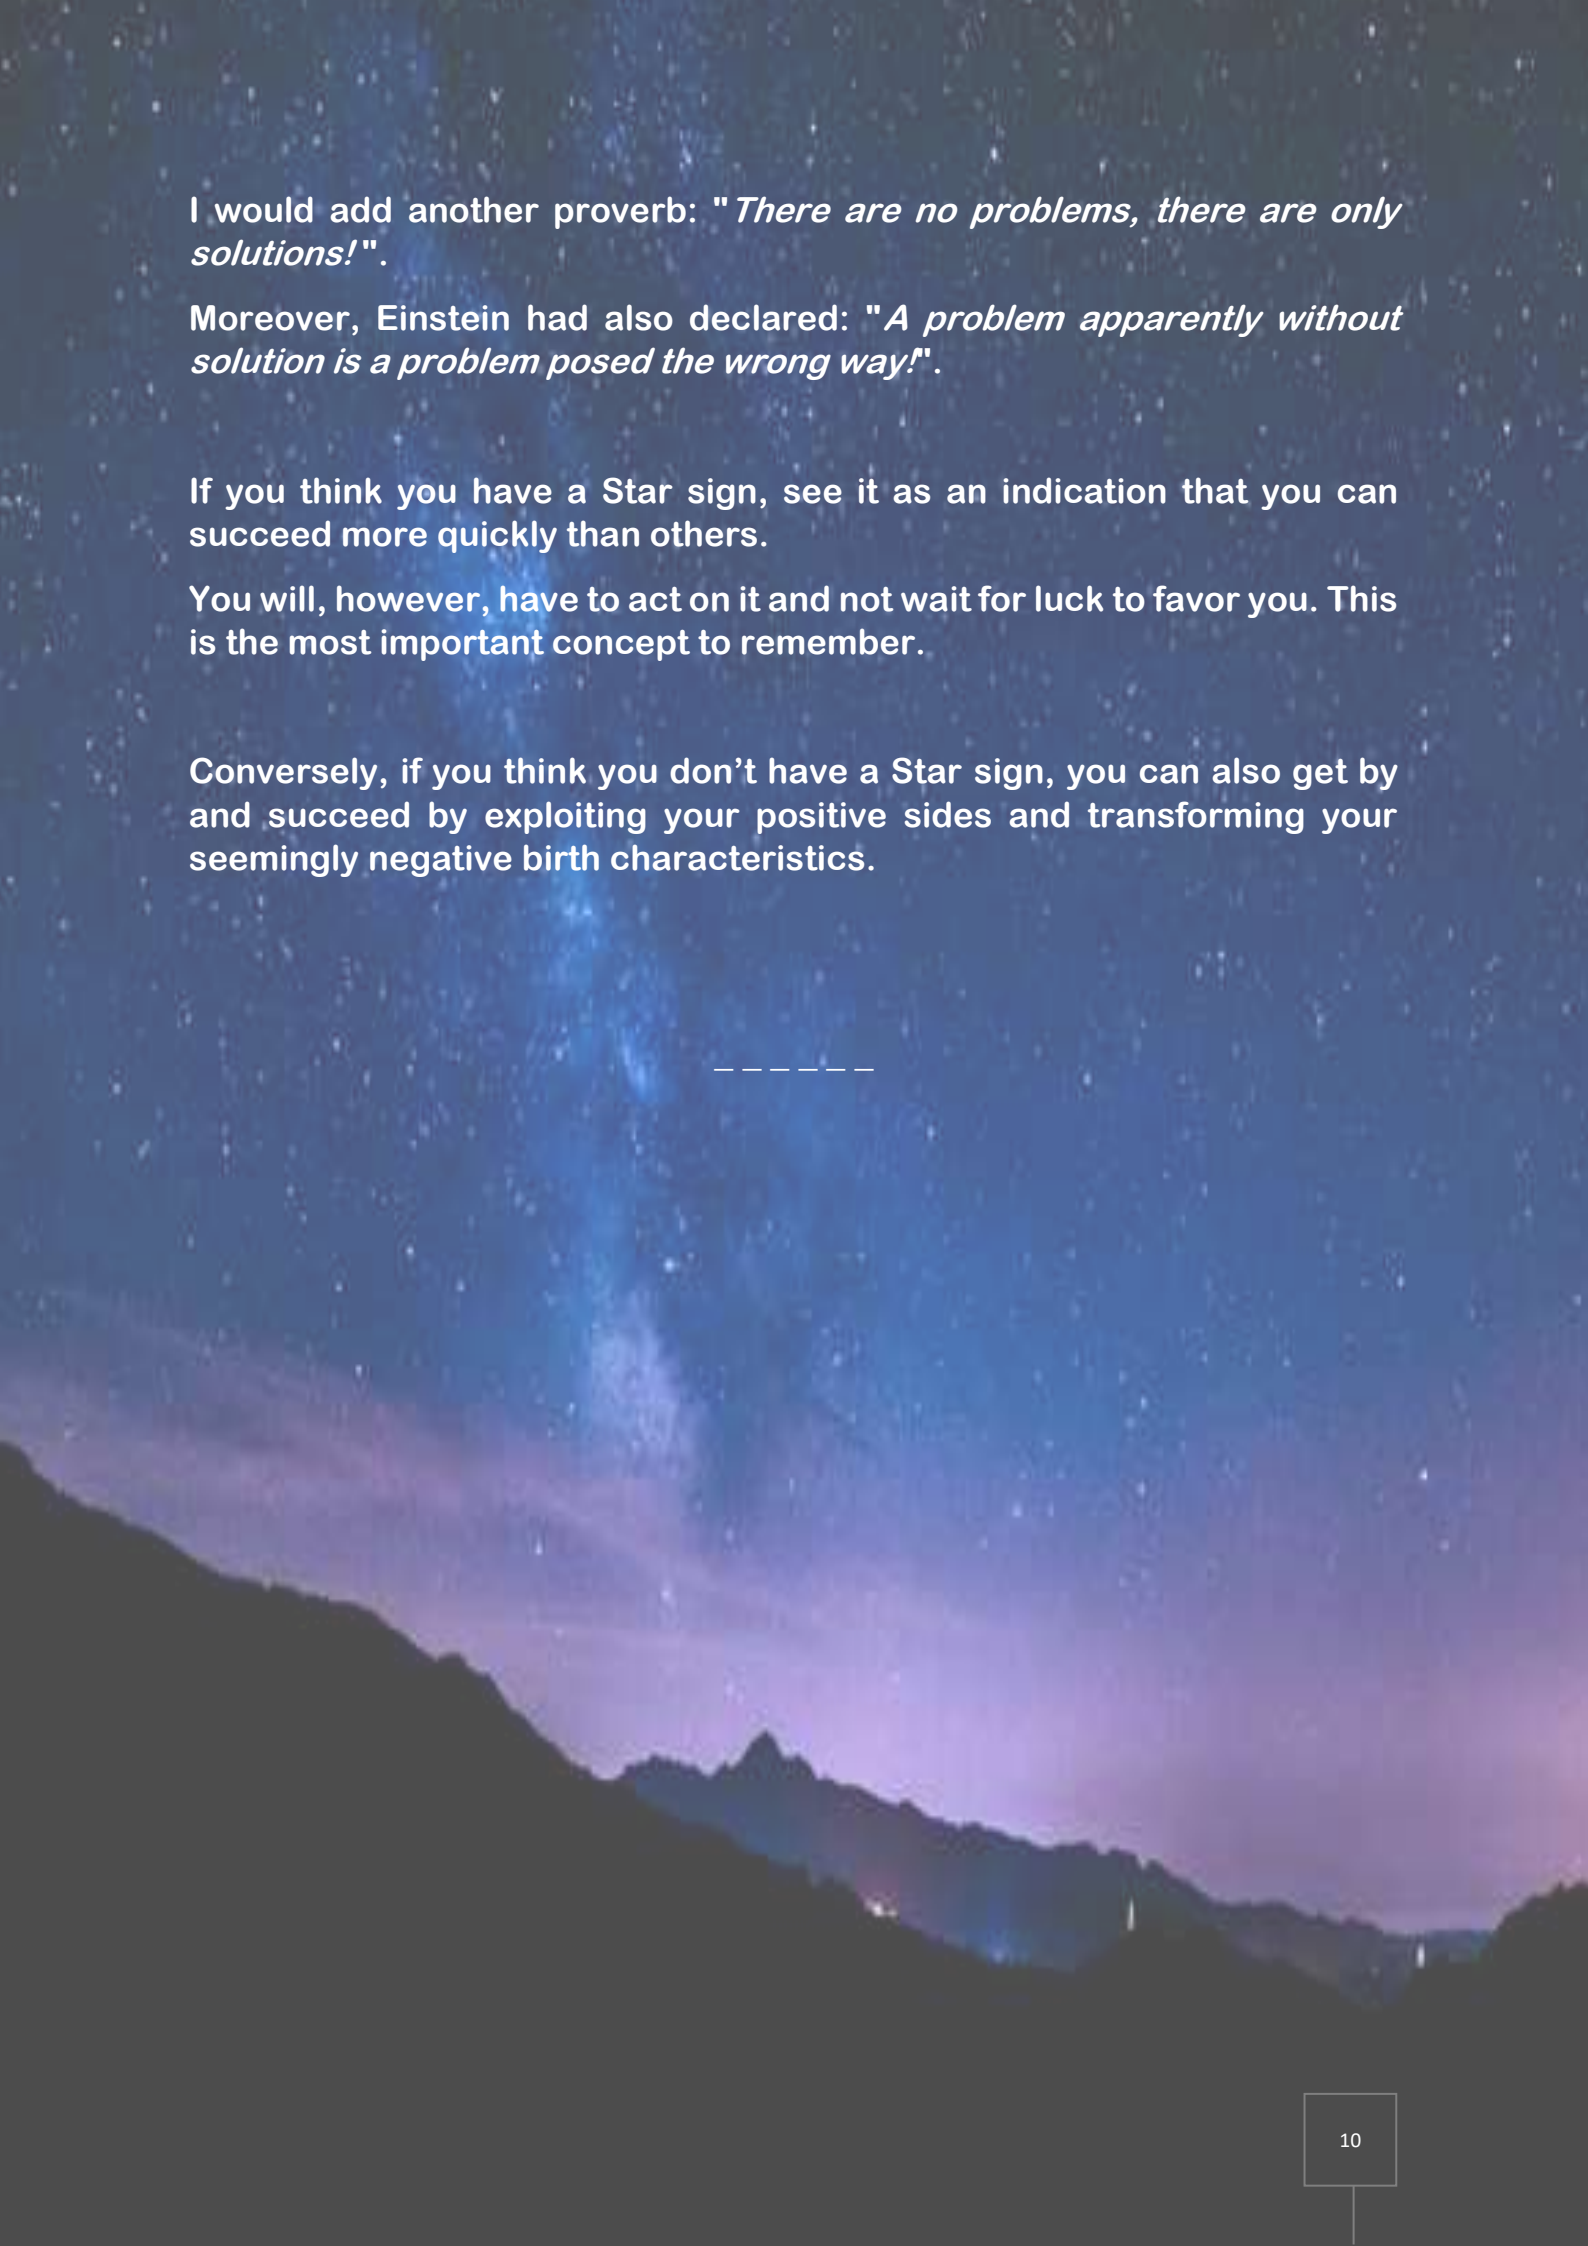

Indeed, for astrologers, the astral themes linked to the conjunction of planets and established at the time of our birth certainly indicate our psychological characteristics. However, these characteristics do not determine our life once and forever!

We are not prisoners of destiny or fate, nor are we promised unlimited luck. We can always have an influence on our life and change its course at any time.

Free will determines your existence!

Free will is the faculty we have to determine what our life will be and to change it at any time, but it is not done by itself.

It often requires us to change some of our ideas, behaviors and habits because, as the great scientist Albert Einstein said: "You can't solve your problems with the ideas that helped create them!".

I would add another proverb: "There are no problems, there are only solutions!".

Moreover, Einstein had also declared: "A problem apparently without solution is a problem posed the wrong way!".

If you think you have a Star sign, see it as an indication that you can succeed more quickly than others.

You will, however, have to act on it and not wait for luck to favor you. This is the most important concept to remember.

Conversely, if you think you don't have a Star sign, you can also get by and succeed by exploiting your positive sides and transforming your seemingly negative birth characteristics.

Chapter 2

THE STORY OF PETER THE RICH AND MARTIN THE POOR

Martin was born into a rich family and as they say, "with a silver spoon!" In other words, he was born into a wealthy family. From childhood, he received the best education. His parents looked after him because he was an only child. He never lacked anything materially.

His father, the head of his company, earned a lot of money and managed the family fortune from a distance. He and his wife were always traveling, leaving Martin, most of the time, in the care of a housekeeper.

Even though they could afford to send Martin to a private school, or even abroad, his parents had decided to send him to a public school so that he would be in contact with real life on a daily basis and not in the golden cocoon of a boarding school for rich heirs.

Peter was born into a family of modest tradesmen. His parents struggled to make ends meet with their clothing store. Several times they had almost gone out of business, but they had always managed to stay in business. They lived in a small apartment above the store. They didn't go out at night and never took a vacation.

Peter's father would have liked to send his son to the most prestigious college in the area, but he was sorry he couldn't afford it.

Peter had never asked for anything expensive and had never complained about their humble condition, admiring his father's efforts to fight against adversity and always manage to get by.

Peter went to the same public school as Martin and was in the same class. Peter and Martin even became best friends despite their different backgrounds. They didn't care about differences in wealth or social class; they didn't care if one came from a rich family and the other from a poor one. All that mattered was their beautiful friendship.

Martin, the rich man's son, had good grades in class. His path was paved to take over his father's successful business... While Peter, the poor man's son, was an average student who was preparing to take over his parents' store when he would pass his baccalaureate.

But, as it often happens in such cases, even the apparently solid friendships of childhood do not stand the test of time, nor of life's events, and even less parental decisions.

Chronicle of an unexpected break-up!

In this case, it was Martin and his family's move to Paris near the new headquarters of Martin's father's company that signaled the beginning of the end for their beautiful relationship and friendship.

After the surprise and shock felt by Peter the Poor at the announcement of the sudden departure of Martin The Rich's family, the two friends promised to visit each other regularly, to write to each other, to send messages via social networks, to phone each other...

The first weeks, it was perfect. They were regularly in contact then, as time went by, the answers to the messages from both sides became rarer and rarer until one day, a few months later, the mutual interests became rarefied and the contact was broken.

This break was so slow and natural that, almost seven months later, Martin remembered, caught up in a sudden feeling of guilt, to contact the one who was, until recently, his best friend!

Martin was preparing to send a message to Peter when he realized, with a bit of spite and sadness, that he had not written his friend's number in his electronic agenda when he had changed his phone two months ago. He had unconsciously removed him from the list of his friends, as he then realized.

Of course, Martin could have found Peter's phone number with a quick online search... but he realized that he didn't really want to, as he was so busy with his new life. He felt like a Parisian now and had that little disdain that Parisians have for provincials, but above all he wouldn't have known what to say to him!

He then closed the "Peter" page with a little touch of regret and nostalgia, thinking of the good times they had lived together!

Then, after all, Martin the Rich had enough to occupy himself with the higher studies of business that he had undertaken on the request of his father before being able to take the direction of his textile company.

Meanwhile, Peter, still a prisoner of his provincial life, no longer dared to contact the "Parisian" as he now called Martin with a mixture of envy (he had always dreamed of going to Paris!) and feelings of inferiority. He resigned himself to not contacting his ex-friend for life!

Then the years passed surely and relentlessly!

Seventeen years and three months later!

After passing his baccalaureate without honors, following the destiny that seemed to have been drawn for him, Peter the Poor took over his father's clothing store while Martin studied business at university and then became, after ten years, the President and CEO of his father's large and growing company.

Seventeen years later, Peter the Poor had made his own way, rebelling against the seemingly clear-cut path of being a lowly boss for life.

He studied many marketing techniques on his own and opened several stores. One day, having become rich, he decided to take a vacation in Paris (remember: it was his childhood dream!).

It was only when he arrived in Paris that he remembered Martin. Now that he, Peter the Poor, had become Peter the Rich, he no longer had a complex about Martin the Rich and decided to meet him.

To make the surprise complete, Peter decided not to tell Martin about his visit and went directly to his company's headquarters.

When he arrived at the bottom of the impressive building of his friend's company, in the entrance hall, Peter quickly glanced at the organization chart and noticed, with a small smile, that, as often, the CEO's office was on the top floor! So he headed for the elevator.

At that moment, he was stopped by the receptionist who, distraught by his daring behavior, called him in an almost desperate tone: "Sir, sir! Where are you going, please wait!".

Peter turned around, remembering the propriety of not having announced himself, and apologized. After all, she was only doing her job!

"Oh, excuse me, but Martin W. is an old friend and I was about to pay him a surprise visit!", then he added, so that the receptionist could justify her role: "Your boss's office is on the top floor?"

The receptionist stared at him in surprise: "But who do you want to see? Do you have an appointment?"

Peter looked at her condescendingly and wondered how people could hire such incompetent people and added, annoyed: "But I've come to see Mr. Martin W, the boss of this company!"

The receptionist looked at him for a long time and Peter sighed, thinking that the poor woman must be particularly stupid.

She said: "Oh no, sir! The CEO is Alexander D. Mr. Martin W. works here, but he is only the assistant of Mr. Alexander D. He is on the second floor. And who should I announce?"

Peter was stunned and automatically gave his family name, wondering for a few seconds if he had understood everything.

Struggling to come back from his surprise, he automatically noted that the receptionist had said, "Martin W. will see you in ten minutes."

When the receptionist waved to him, he took the elevator, still not recovered from his amazement, and knocked on a door with the name of Martin W. He immediately recognized the voice that answered: "Come in!"

But that was about all that seemed familiar about his childhood friend. He found it hard to recognize the proud Martin of his teenage years in front of this man with aged features. The man was hunched over and seemed to carry the heavy burden of responsibility and worry on his shoulders.

Martin noted Peter's dumbfounded look but pretended not to notice. He was aware of the disillusioned and discouraged person he had become. They exchanged the usual courtesies, regrets for not having contacted each other sooner, for having lost touch for so long, etc.

Martin expressed his admiration when Peter told him how he had not resigned himself to being the simple boss of a modest provincial establishment. He detailed how he had struggled and how he had patiently grown his business to export.

Despite the crisis, Peter admitted, not without pride but without arrogance, that he was doing well, not to say clearly that he was earning a very good living, that he was living a happy life and could often travel.

The story of a descent into hell!

But after a while, tired of the usual politeness and the modesty that many people have to show off their success when they see that the other person seems less spoiled by life, he asked the question that was burning in his mind: "Tell me, what happened to you? You had everything to succeed, your family was rich, you had a brilliant education and you had taken over your father's business and now...?".

Peter didn't dare finish his sentence out of respect for this man wearing a slightly worn suit, apparently not in the latest fashion. In any case, he was wearing a simple and cheap suit like the ones you find in many popular clothing chains!

At haphazard!

At this question, Martin frowned, let out a long sigh of resignation, and arched his back a little more. It seemed as if he had taken ten years for the question to come out of Peter's mouth spontaneously.

Martin remained silent for a moment and Peter thought he would never tell him what had happened to explain this descent into hell.

Martin finally answered, but the words came out of his mouth with difficulty, as if he had to tear from his memory painful memories that he would have preferred to forget!

"Listen, my dear Peter, since I took over my father's business several years ago, things have only gotten worse, but I'm the only one responsible! I don't blame anyone else but myself, while for years I put the blame on others to hide my own!"

He paused, served Peter a coffee and continued:

"I believed too quickly that everything would be easy for me and that I would be safe because I was born under a Star sign. So I didn't worry. In my childhood, I had everything I wanted, I never lacked anything!"

"My intelligence had always allowed me to get out of any situation. So, I managed the company in an irregular way, no pun intended, really "haphazardly". I partied every night, I had I don't know how many girlfriends! I would come into the office at any time and sometimes not at all for days!"

"The company's business was declining all the time but I didn't care. I said to myself, 'It's okay! It can only get better because I was born under a Star sign and I have always managed to get through the worst times!"

Peter didn't know what to say, or rather he knew very well what to say, but he was afraid to offend him or to make him feel worse, because his friend was getting even more stooped and seemed to be getting older by one year with each sentence!

Peter felt sorry for his friend. He took advantage of the fact that the latter was absent to satisfy a natural need to reflect on his success.

He had started from a much lower level than his friend. Refusing the apparent fatality of taking over his father's store, he had sought to develop his company, to create innovative products and to turn to new technologies to make his business as profitable as possible.

He had forced a destiny that seemed grey and fixed. Despite being less intelligent than Martin and not having his fortune, he had created his own Star sign and had set his life on the road to success, wealth and achievement with time, patience and enthusiasm.

Martin reappeared and spoke with difficulty, resigned, to continue the story of a disaster programmed by a misunderstanding, as for many people, of what a Star sign is. But, above all, he seemed unaware of how to take advantage of it and use it!

"I continued like this, for three years, believing in my Star sign that would eventually give me the means to turn things around! In spite of the warnings of my partner Alexandre D..."

As he reluctantly uttered this name, Martin sighed heavily and smiled wryly, shaking his head. At that moment, I remembered that this name was the one given to me by the receptionist to designate me... the current CEO of the company! Then he added:

"I didn't change anything while I was leading the company to its demise while waiting for a miracle that never came and never did. But I must finish the story! One fine day, when I came to the company in a somewhat sloppy outfit and with a hangover from a memorable evening, I was surprised that I could no longer enter my office!"

"I couldn't get the key in the door and I put it down to my alcohol-fogged brain, but to get out of it, once again, I took it out on the others and in particular on my secretary Martine, insulting her: "What did you do to this damn door?"

"Her reaction surprised me... Suddenly I saw a red light go on in my brain! She didn't answer, opened her big helpless eyes and turned her head without a word to Alexander who was standing there silently.

I noticed him just then but what surprised me was that he seemed very sure of himself and did not seem to fear me as before! He attacked me bluntly: "Listen, Martin, you're very nice, but from now on, you're not the boss here! I am the boss! I had the office lock changed. And you're lucky I'm not firing you out of respect for your father's memory. I'm giving you a job as the company's coordinator. Your office is on the second floor where I will ask you to go tomorrow morning, but in proper attire, sober and shaven. I know it's a closet, but it's still a golden closet!"

"In a few minutes, my whole life had been turned upside down and everything had collapsed in one fell swoop. I didn't protest because I was both paralyzed and guilt-ridden by the remorse of my destructive attitude for myself, my company but especially for the staff that I had totally neglected! If I found myself doing a useless job that was given to me out of pure charity, what they call a closet, it was indeed my fault!"

"I deserved what is happening to me with my false conception of a Star sign. Indeed, even if one is supposedly favored, if one does nothing and passively waits for luck to come along, one cannot succeed!"

"Luck, you have to provoke it like you did! You have made your Star sign. You, Peter the Poor, became Peter the Rich while I, Martin the Rich, will end up as Martin the Poor... In every sense of the word!"

Martin, broken by grief, then listened attentively to Peter's success story, and saw his tenacity, his courage, his audacity... All these qualities that he had been unable to apply to himself!

Martin got his act together and decided to believe in his Star sign again. But he couldn't see how he could get out of it until then. He rolled up his sleeves and applied the principles handed down by Peter the Rich!

Martin's strength was that he was intelligent, open-minded and able to adapt to circumstances. His descent into hell had eradicated from his heart his arrogance and carelessness. He had become humble and willing to try any idea that would get him out of his vicious circle of unhappiness.

After three years, he had rebuilt his company, which had a higher turnover than his former company. He even bought it back after five years, but did not show any spirit of revenge against his former partner who had put him in the closet.

Martin knew deep down that Alexander D. had acted for the good of the company. He had done him a favor by taking the management position away from him.

The loss of his position as manager had been a psychological shock for Martin. This trauma and his awareness of Peter's success had changed his mind about his Star sign.

It could have helped him years before, but only if he did not let himself go, acted in the right way, learned from his mistakes, and regularly tried to improve himself by exploiting his positive sides more and transforming his negative ones.

Chapter 3

WHO ARE YOU?

So where can you see yourself now? Are you Peter the Poor, Peter the Rich, Martin the Rich or Martin the Poor?

Read the four descriptions below and see which one you are closest to and then turn to the corresponding chapter.

Are you Peter the Poor?

Do you feel that you are in a similar situation to Peter when he was poor and that you don't have a Star sign or the assets to succeed?

So, do you feel that you are on a track that you cannot get off? Do you think you can't change anything? That destiny is out to get you and that you have no control over it? That you will always be a victim of bad luck?

Do you feel that everything is decided in advance and whatever you do, you cannot change your destiny?

Do you feel that you are going to follow or are following a path that you don't really like but that you continue, or that you are going to take, because you think you have no choice, or that you don't dare because you don't know what else to do?

Are you about to take this path out of duty (to your parents, relatives, debtors or people to whom you owe something, whether it is money, a service, time, or some other reason?), out of a commitment you have made, a promise you have made to one of your loved ones or to your parents?

Are you doing this out of stubbornness? Out of pride? Out of arrogance? With a feeling of guilt or to show that you are not going backwards, that you do not want to lose face, even if it means heading straight for disaster?

Do you actually believe that you can be RICH one day, that you can be happy or lucky in general or in a particular area?

Are you open-minded enough to question your behaviors and ideas if it would help you live better, be rich, be happy, and get everything you want?

Do you think your ideas are good, your behaviors are the best, and your principles are right... even if they haven't proven themselves and haven't brought you happiness?

Do you hold on to them because you don't know any others and you don't want to change them? If not, do you think you will panic without knowing what to do?

Are you afraid of the unknown which does not reassure you? Or do you think that luck is reserved for a small part of the population, for the privileged only?

Do you see your future blocked without any perspective? Does your future seem dark and hopeless?

In short: Are you convinced that you have never had luck, that you do not have or that you will never have luck?

Do you conclude that there is no Star sign that protects you and brings you good opportunities in general?

Are you Peter the Rich?

Do you believe that you are in a comparable situation to that of Peter the Rich, that you have the assets to succeed and forge your destiny as he did?

Do you believe that nothing is ever decided in advance? That you can one day be Peter the Rich, no matter what your current situation is?

Do you have the impression that you can deviate from the path that seems to have been set for you, either by personal choice or by resignation? Because you don't know what else to do?

Do you think that your destiny is in your hands and that life is a journey that is built day after day, at every step?

Do you believe that you always have the possibility to change the course of your life if you can and especially if you want to?

Do you think that you are always the master of your destiny? That you are the victim of bad choices that you made consciously (because of your ideas of the time) or unconsciously (under the pressure of false or old-fashioned behaviors and principles received through your education by your parents, relatives, school, society...)?

Do you believe that nothing is decided in advance, that you are free to make your own choices? Do you think that, even if you have been a victim of bad luck, since always or from time to time during your existence, things are not fixed, that you can reverse this bad luck and that it cannot last forever?

Do you feel that you are going to follow or are following a path that you don't really like but that you still have the choice to let it go? That, if you can or if you dare, you can at any time follow a destiny that suits you perfectly?

Do you believe that you can realize your wildest dreams and most ambitious plans at any time?

If you knew how to do this, would you have the courage to leave this path you are following and refuse the uninspiring life that awaits you?

Do you feel that you are not accountable to anyone? That you don't owe anyone anything?

Do you think that you don't have to follow a life that you don't like only to please others, your loved ones, or because you owe something to someone: whether it is money, a service, guilt for your past actions or failures...?

Do you feel obligated to pay off a debt of your parents, children, or people in authority over you? Do you think you could keep your promises or pay off debts in a different way that you would enjoy and that will bring you more satisfaction?

Do you think you should not let negative principles or behaviors ruin your life?

Would you be able to let go of your shortcomings such as stubbornness, arrogance, false pride... To finally live the life you want and realize your dreams and desires?

Would you be willing to risk losing face, to give up all feelings of guilt, not to feel humiliation or a sense of weakness if you change your mind? Is losing face to certain people as important if it allows you to achieve your dreams?

Do you still have the hope or belief that you can become rich, happy, and fulfill all your desires at any time?

Are you open-minded enough to question your behaviors and ideas if it would help you live a better life, be wealthy, be happy, and fulfill all your dreams?

Could you change your current principles, ideas, and behaviors if you had evidence that they were not the most effective in leading you to happiness and the life you really wanted?

If you were presented with new life principles that are proven to work, would you drop the old ones like old clothes that are too tight and worn out for more modern outfits that you would feel more comfortable in, like innovative ideas?

Yet you are open-minded enough to admit that your old principles are wrong and change them naturally without panicking, putting your heart into it and not being afraid to step into the unknown.

Do you have the confidence that you can still be rich, experience intense happiness and be lucky?

Could you embark on a new path wholeheartedly, fearlessly and enthusiastically with enough optimism to do so?

Do you see the future as open, full of promise and possibility, with no limits in any area? Do you consider that life is always full of surprises and that you will reap the fruits of your labor if you want to? But you also know that it will take effort and patience!

Do you believe that everyone can be lucky at any time and when they really want to?

Are you firmly convinced that your future is not blocked and that you have great prospects? Do you imagine your life being happy in the years to come, with many prospects?

Do you have a strong hope that you will earn more money, that you will achieve a better emotional balance and that you will certainly be lucky in many areas?

Are you not affected by the "negative" side: this tendency to see everything in black and to think that, whatever you do, you will never succeed?

In short, are you sure that even if you have not been lucky so far, it does not mean that you will not be lucky in the near future if you make the necessary efforts and that your reward will be a bright and rewarding future in all respects?

So, your Star sign has not yet favored you, but it will soon and you will be lucky soon.

You are still certain that your Star sign will bring you what you want from life, but you think that it will not happen by itself and that you will have to change some of your ideas and behaviors to see your Star sign finally shine in your life!

Are you Martin the Rich?

Do you feel, at the moment, that you are in a situation comparable to that of Martin the Rich and that you will enjoy your Star sign without having to make any effort for it, that it will always save you as if by a miracle?

Do you feel that a brilliant path is opening up before you and that you will have little or no effort to make in order to be or remain rich in the broadest sense: perhaps in money, in a beautiful relationship or simply in luck?

Do you think that all you have to do is wait for luck to knock on your door and make a wish and it will come true in the long run, without you having to make any effort?

Do you have the conviction that you just have to lead your life as you wish without worrying about tomorrow and that things will take care of themselves without you having to do anything!

Do you feel that your life is on the right track and that you don't have to ask yourself (too) many questions about it because, whatever you do... everything will be fine for you?

Do you believe that even if you don't do anything or even if you allow yourself to be flawed, things will work themselves out for you? Do you believe that a miracle will always happen in your favor, even at the last minute, and therefore you will never have to worry about anything?

Do you believe in destiny and think that the one you imagine, brilliant, rich, experiencing happiness in all areas, is necessarily assured?

Moreover, do you think that destiny has been rather lenient for you and that you only have to follow your way quietly without worrying?

Or have you been lucky so far, more or less regularly, and there is no reason why it should ever stop!

Do you feel that you are following a path that you like or that, even if you do not adhere to it one hundred percent, it is better to continue to follow it because it leads you straight to success?

Then you would have to be crazy to change anything about the path you are following and the life you are living, wouldn't you!

It seems absurd to you to do so if it is to fall into a more difficult life, or even to lose the advantages acquired by yourself or passed on to you by people who counted for you: your parents, close relatives, advisors during your childhood, friends...

Are you about to take the high road that seems to be open to you because you owe it to your parents and the golden environment in which you spent your childhood? Do you feel you owe them? Would you risk changing your path even if the uninspiring future that awaits you is comfortable, secure and will keep you safe from any trouble?

Will you go down this path out of loyalty to the promise you made to your parents or because you owe that promise to people to whom you owe something: money? A service? Time? Something else?

If you did not keep this moral commitment, would you feel guilt, shame, remorse... for not pleasing these moral or physical debtors?

Moral debtors are all the people to whom you have or imagine you have a moral debt!

They have intervened for you or they have helped you in the past in one way or another: whether it is money, property, advice, introductions to influential people...

This being the case, you feel that you owe these people a moral debt and you would not, under any circumstances, want to disappoint them, deceive them or steal from them...

Even if you don't completely like the path before you, but you know that it can bring you enough money, you will focus on giving the maximum results in the corresponding areas but without a real passion in these activities!

You would feel guilty for not doing what these people tell you or for not applying the thoughts they would have instilled in you.

Do you feel a mixture of pride, superiority, joy, arrogance, self-assurance and self-confidence at this time because you are living a dreamy existence in a cocoon, free from troubles and worries in everything, whether spiritual or material?

Have you ever made commitments in a path that seems to be all set for you, even if not with great enthusiasm, because you don't want to leave an impression of weakness by going back on your promise or because it could put you in a position of inferiority?

You would then have the impression that you can no longer impose your authority, your advice, your recommendations, your warnings...

Could you stand up against the current model of society that you are used to obeying, or at least question it in a sensible way and encourage any other form of project or society?

Do you think that your ideas are good, that your life model is the right one and that you don't have to change anything?

You don't feel the need or the necessity to change your ideas and habits because, for the moment, their application has been rather successful for you even if everything is not perfect!

In any case, you hold on to your present state of mind because you don't know any other, but also because you don't want to change anything.

Why, then, give up the prey for the shadow and start integrating new ideas again? You think that you would lose control and go into the unknown with uncertainties that you would rather avoid!

If you were to change your mindset, you fear panicking without knowing what to do! You would then go towards the unknown which does not reassure you!

Do you have this conviction that you will soon be rich, that you will surely know happiness and that you will be very lucky because you think that you belong to this small category of privileged people to whom everything succeeds?

Under these conditions, you don't worry about your future and you see it as necessarily golden with a multitude of choices to come!

In short, you are convinced that you are lucky and that there is no reason for it to abandon you.

You have the certainty of having a Star sign who protects you and that nothing can happen to you. Your life will be under the protection of this Star sign and you believe that you will never lack anything!

Are you Martin the Poor?

Do you feel that you are currently in a situation similar to that of Martin the Poor and that you have not done what it takes to make your Star sign shine or used all your assets to succeed?

If you are like Martin the Poor, the former rich:

- Either you never took or knew how to take the right steps to make the most of your Star sign or you have veered off course due to distraction, setbacks and failures in life.
- Either, you didn't pay enough attention so that you let things spin out of control in a way to deteriorate.

You had put yourself on a track that you thought you had to follow without being able to get off it or feeling that you could steer yourself in a different direction when you wanted to. You didn't dare deviate from that road for fear of the unknown or because you didn't know how to do otherwise!

Also, even if you were heading straight for disaster, you preferred to continue because, often, we prefer to lock ourselves in our bad habits rather than dare to change our path. It's a human reflex!

You have had the impression that you have had bad luck or that fate has played bad tricks on you and has never been kind to you.

You may have continued to follow a path that did not suit you because you thought that everything was written in advance, that you could not change anything, no matter what you did!

It is also possible that you have persisted in your bad habits, which have served you so well, because you did not have enough energy or desire to change them. You think, deep down, that not only fate but also a stubborn bad luck has been fatal to you.

You may have thought, especially if you had a golden life before or were lucky from time to time, that events would take care of themselves or that a miracle would always come to get you out of your predicament!

So you waited and waited... and the providential person who could have helped you out of your condition never came or the extraordinary situation that was supposed to happen never happened!

So you continued to follow this path without really knowing what to do because you didn't know any other way! This is not your fault!

You may also have felt that you had no choice because you had to continue on this path out of duty to your parents, relatives, people to whom you felt you owed something because they had given you help or promised to help or advise you in the future!

You may also have continued out of fear or apprehension of the reactions that this could generate, of losing face, of proving right the people who had criticized your life or your way of doing things!

If you had given up along the way and had failed or given the impression that you were going backwards, you think that you would have lost the face, the esteem or the respect of people you admired, who had authority over you, who were afraid of you or who could have harmed you.

Unfortunately, your attitude was not beneficial and you are now in an even worse situation than before. It may even have caused you to lose faith in yourself.

You may be paralyzed by fear, by the fear of failing again. You no longer dare to act for fear of another disappointment that would be devastating and would make you lose even more confidence in yourself.

You thought, in good faith, that your ideas were good, that your behaviors and principles were important because the people who taught them to you had all your confidence.

As a result, you thought they could not be wrong and, in fact, it was you who did not get the results you expected because you misunderstood or misapplied the instructions you received.

Or maybe you thought that your efforts would pay off and that by persisting in following the advice of others, it would eventually pay off... But it never did and you probably feel guilty about it!

It is even possible that, as a result of all these events that led your life to a dead end, you have the conviction that you had nothing to succeed or that you don't have enough abilities for that.

As a result of this, added to the fact that you have suffered failures and have not been able to recover, you no longer want to act or do anything, for fear of failing again and sinking further!

You tried to get back on track and not fear the unknown but the unknown was fatal to you! Now you don't dare move a finger. You hold on to principles which, admittedly, did not help you succeed but which, at least, you are familiar with and know.

You may even have convinced yourself that you will never be rich or become rich again, that you will never experience the joy of a balanced love life or that you will never have any luck.

If you've been lucky in the past and it never came back, you may have finally convinced yourself that you've used up your supply of luck forever.

If you've never had good luck, or very little, in the past, you no longer believe in it and think it's either not coming back or it doesn't exist. You have written it off!

Do you think that you will never be rich or happy again? You have the conviction that you were lucky... That you let your chance pass in the past and that it will never come back.

You are prepared, or even resigned, to suffer throughout your life with no hope of getting out of it!

You even think that if, at times, you have glimpsed wealth, sentimental joy, luck in certain areas... it was pure chance!

In short, do you have the conviction that you have never had, that you do not have or that you will never have luck?

Your future is blocked, you no longer believe in it. You no longer have faith and your interest in existence has clearly diminished.

You think you have proof, through your difficult life, that if you had a Star sign, it has long since faded away!

Or that this Star sign does not exist or that these are stories that are told to deceive people!

You even think that there is no Star sign that protects you and can bring you the best opportunities in a particular field.

It's up to you to make your choice

After reading these four scenarios, it is up to you to determine what type of person you are, to which category you belong.

You must understand that there is no intention to blame, criticize or condemn anyone in these four descriptions.

The purpose here is to materialize the four most common types of behavior according to your conception of what a Star sign is.

Also, whatever your case, the purpose here is not to declare that you are in the right and wrong category because there is no right or wrong category, just different situations.

What does "being rich" mean?

It is important here to clarify what "Being Rich" means so that you can make an informed choice of category.

It is not a matter of falling into the trap of misunderstanding what true wealth is. Otherwise, you risk repeating the same mistakes concerning the notion of the Star sign!

In this book, the notion of wealth does not only refer to your money wealth but also to your intellectual enrichment and to your level of personal happiness and satisfaction in life.

If being millions or even billions of dollars rich were enough to make you happy, you wouldn't know it.

Rich people have the same concerns as everyone else: they love, they separate, they have fears, they have ups and downs like everyone else... But above all, they have a specific goal in their lives!

They pursue it with constancy and patience until they achieve it. They also experience failures, but they recover from them, learning from their mistakes to start again. They get back on the horse very quickly, not miraculously!

They practice their own form of happiness. In the same way, you must find your own way to become happy!

Rich people are not happy because they are rich, but they are rich because they are happy!

What does "being poor" means?

Just as it is important to have a sense of what it means to "be Rich", it is important to understand what it means to be Poor!

It does not only mean not having much money. "Being poor" also means having bad luck in particular areas or in general, as well as having suffered one or more sentimental setbacks, having been the victim of several accidents in life.

Unfortunately, today, you are in a difficult situation and your Star sign seems to have abandoned you.

As a result, you find it difficult to make it out with everyday life, you feel that you have no chance and you believe that your Star sign is not that good or that it will not shine anymore.

But as you will see, nothing is ever lost.

First case: You are (young) Peter the Poor

You are in a difficult situation right now. You are starting from nothing or you are from a modest origin and you do not believe in your Star sign, or it has not yet manifested itself.

Second Case: You are Peter (adult) the Rich

You have overcome the mentality of Peter (young) the poor, you have decided to break this fatality. You have activated your Star sign yourself or you are preparing to do so. You must make sure that it shines permanently because luck can leave you at any moment.

Third Case: You are Martin (young) the Rich

You are in a good situation or you live in a privileged environment. You think that your future will be golden and that you will have everything you want when you want it and that you really don't have to worry because you have a Star sign protecting you.

Fourth Case: You are Martin (adult) the Poor

You let things happen without making much effort. You thought that everything would work out anyway, perhaps because you managed to get by even if it was sometimes almost miraculously. This is no longer the case. You no longer believe in your Star sign.

Tips for choosing your trend

Now, honestly determine what category you are in and then go read the tips for your case.

We'll call them trends because you may fall into more than one of these categories. They are only there to clarify the different situations that may arise but they are not closed.

Therefore, first determine the one that seems to correspond the most to your case and then apply the advice of the category in question.

Then, you can always draw on the ideas given in the other categories if they seem useful to you to progress.

Also, I encourage you to carefully read the presentations of the four categories to determine which one fits you the most because human beings are not always "classifiable".

It is often difficult, and fortunately so, to put them into specific and limited categories.

In the same way, knowledge of the three categories other than your own could also prove to be enriching and prevent you from making mistakes.

Life is full of opportunities that pass us by: we either don't notice them or we don't take advantage of them because of completely false preconceived ideas that obscure our horizon.

With the tips below, you will have the opportunity to open your eyes and let your Star sign shine!

Finally, reading all these tips could also allow you to help people around you if they fall into one of these categories. This could help them improve their lives or prevent their personal situation from deteriorating over time!

The power of creative visualization

Before I tell you how to change your current condition and make your Star sign shine permanently, I will present you with a method that will help you.

Whatever your current situation – whether you are Peter the Poor, Peter the Rich, Martin the Rich or Martin the Poor – practice positive creative visualization!

The practice of creative visualization consists of visualizing a problem and its positive solution.

In creative visualization, it is not enough to simply imagine the solution mentally, but rather to feel the effects of the actions you are going to take before actually doing them.

You must see yourself in the situation that will allow you to solve the problem in question, to imagine yourself once it is solved by "living" the impressions that you will then feel in the most realistic way possible. This method is very effective if it is practiced with conviction.

For example, once you imagine the situation solved: See yourself smiling, at ease, feel the satisfaction of the mission accomplished and the intense satisfaction experienced with the solution found or the problem solved, especially if it had seemed insoluble at the beginning.

If you want to rediscover the joy, the satisfaction, the pleasures experienced during the visualization, then all you have to do is memorize them again.

If you have experienced them before, feel them even more intensely than before.

Then apply yourself to materialize these visualizations in your daily life by acting in the direction of the desired goal.

If you practice these visualizations with conviction, you will not lack ideas to move forward even if you have none at present. It's an unstoppable mental process!

Start by practicing on small, everyday concerns of secondary importance. Gradually, your confidence will grow with the successes you achieve as you solve your worries and come up with solutions to easy problems.

Once you've made it over the second-rate hills like a beginner cyclist, tackle the more difficult slopes of the first-rate hills, the bigger problems.

Chapter 4

HOW TO MAKE YOUR STAR SIGN SHINE IF YOU ARE PETER THE POOR?

If you are in a situation similar to that of Peter the Poor when he was young, i.e. not being sure of having a Star sign and starting from a difficult or modest situation, this chapter is for you.

Follow the path of Peter the Poor, who nevertheless decided to make his own luck and shine his Star sign by his own efforts.

The solution is to start believing in your Star sign or to believe in it again, because no matter what influences you received the day you were born, you can always tip the scales in the right direction. All you have to do is believe in it and want it.

Did you know that many millionaires and billionaires started out without a penny in their pockets, but that didn't stop them from succeeding in spite of that?

According to statistics, almost 76% of billionaires had no money before they managed to earn phenomenal fortunes.

This means that, conversely, only 24% of the world's wealthiest people come from a privileged background and had a huge family fortune to start with.

Starting from nothing to earn considerable fortunes!

Thus, Henry Ford (1863-1947), arrived in New York without a penny and founded the most famous car company in the world.

Of Irish origin, he was the son of a farmer. He became the father of the modern car as we understand it now because he developed the production line before democratizing this motor vehicle which was, at the time, only a strange object of curiosity!

Steve Jobs (1955-2011), the co-founder of the Apple computer brand and iPhone phones, started out in his garage, also without money. He was adopted at birth, lived in a modest environment in San Francisco and dropped out of school in 1972 at 17!

You can find many examples of successes from nothing or even after many failures like Thomas Edison (1847-1931). Considered the greatest American inventor of all time, he invented the light bulb, the phonograph, the camera...

He was the last born of a family of seventeen children and became deaf as a result of scarlet fever. He started by selling newspapers in trains!

Before he became rich and famous, he lived in poverty with his family for many years and was rejected several times when he presented his inventions... Which have since revolutionized the world!

Most successful people have always believed in their Star sign, being convinced that one day or another, they would realize their dreams.

You are also a genius!

You too, believe in yourself, no matter how difficult your situation is.

If you have a lot of problems, it means that you are on the wrong track. You need to look in another direction, in the direction that is yours!

Don't run away from your problems because, if they come up, you are capable of solving them. You just have to find the solution. Think of a problem as a riddle to be solved.

Tell yourself that there are no problems but solutions. Remember Albert Einstein's quote from Chapter 2: "A problem apparently without solution is a problem posed the wrong way."

In other words, the problem you are facing certainly has a solution. But perhaps you are looking in the wrong direction to solve it. You probably need to look at it from a different angle.

So if you're having trouble solving a problem, look at it in different ways and consider the ways you can best solve it. If you approach the situation this way, with fresh eyes and positive intentions, you will eventually find a way out.

Rely only on yourself because others have the same concern as you: themselves. They are looking to solve their own problems first and maybe, you never know, they will try to solve yours. The energy they invest in their research takes up all their time and they have very little to devote to you!

Indeed, each human being is so absorbed by his own preoccupations on a daily, weekly, monthly or yearly basis that he will only think of you in second place, or even in third or last place.

You can't blame him because, like him, you are looking for solutions to your own problems before thinking about those of others! You don't have to feel guilty about this attitude which, in the end, is very human!

Give the right instructions to your brain!

Believing in yourself is another expression to say that you believe in your Star sign but, in the end, it doesn't matter what you say.

It's the effect you are looking for that is important: to find the solution to your problems, to improve your financial and emotional situation and to benefit from more favorable circumstances in many areas in order to achieve your deepest desires and your most urgent or important wishes. This is the "Star sign" effect!

Once you have succeeded in believing more in yourself, and that if there is one person who can help you... it is YOU, you must then imagine a positive solution to your current problem. You will do the same for the following ones... But you must solve each problem before thinking of solving another one.

To do this, apply the creative visualization in the following way:

- 1- Stay in a quiet place where no one will bother you for 20 minutes.
- 2- Imagine your problem in a realistic way by feeling the negative emotions associated with it (sadness, disappointment, regrets...). This problem is: You feel that you are currently in a situation comparable to that of Peter when he was poor and that you do not have a Star sign or the assets to succeed.
- 3- Next: see yourself leading the life of your dreams. You must truly visualize yourself enjoying the benefits you are seeking: material or spiritual.
- 4- End the session by making a promise to yourself that you will soon find yourself in the corresponding successful situation: with (your choice) the people you love, enjoying great financial ease, in the house of your dreams with the person you love, settling your debts, having great luck at gambling...!
- 5- Then spend the rest of the day with this image in mind.
- 6- With the regularity of this practice, let's say once a week, the solutions always appear. But only you can apply them. Never forget that!

Indeed, if you have not succeeded so far in reaching your goals, it is never too late but do not delay in applying this creative visualization method!

For now, you are not succeeding because you are feeding your brain with pessimistic thoughts that express negative ideas such as: "I'll never make it!", "It's impossible", "I don't have the ability", "I'll never be rich", "I'll never be happy"...

So you can't regret that your brain doesn't give you the right solutions! On the contrary, it does its job perfectly! It suggests you ideas of the same nature as your thoughts.

If you feed your brain with negative stimuli or thoughts, it can only give you negative suggestions! Think of your brain as your host computer that implements the instructions you give.

A brain is neutral. It only executes the orders you give. It never takes sides!

If you give it negative orders, of failure, of fear, of apprehension... It will react accordingly and will inspire you with identical ideas and behaviors.

Under these conditions, you will think, you will speak, you will act like a fearful, unlucky person, paralyzed by the fear of failure.

This is how Peter the Poor reasoned before he became Peter the Rich! So, do as he did, reverse the trend!

Regularly feed your brain with thoughts of success and self-confidence. Visualize in advance what you want in the future, what you aspire to become and you will quickly notice the difference!

Under these conditions, the brain programmed "positively" by you will provide you with inspirations of the same nature.

If you are consistent in this positive reprogramming, you will eventually drive out the negative ideas permanently.

Summary of what you need to do if you are Peter the Poor:

- 1- First, believe in yourself, because you, like everyone else, have unlimited transformative abilities.
- 2- Believe in your Star sign which is just waiting to be activated.
- 3- If there is one person who can help you, it is yourself!
- 4- You must imagine things in a positive way by telling yourself that there is a solution to all problems by using creative visualization capable of working miracles!
- 5- Take action by applying your resolutions on a daily basis.

If you are Peter the Rich, I advise you to read chapter 5.

Chapter 5

HOW TO KEEP YOUR STAR SIGN SHINING IF YOU ARE PETER THE RICH?

If you are reading this chapter, it means that you were Peter the Poor and that you have succeeded in becoming Peter the Rich and that you want to continue being Peter the Rich.

If you are a Peter the Poor, these tips complement those in the previous chapter and can provide you with additional insight.

Before you continue reading, you need to have a clear picture of what exactly "Peter the Rich" means so that you can continue to shine your Star Sign and maintain its radiant glow!

What is Happiness?

On its own, the notion of happiness is relative. The term "Happiness" does not mean: living in a state of total bliss free from all problems but rather: realizing your dreams, improving your financial situation, having a fulfilling emotional life and being able to prevent problems or solve them when they arise.

Even if your life has not always been rosy, you have probably experienced some moments of happiness.

If so, regularly remind yourself of the periods when you have experienced joy in life in the past: whether it was during your emotional relationships, your professional life, during the periods of financial ease that you may have experienced, even if briefly, or the luck that you have had in certain circumstances, even when it was fleeting, while you still have the bitter taste of failure in your mouth.

If you want to become rich or stay rich, you must apply and remember this second piece of advice: remember your good old days.

The first is to believe and have confidence in yourself. If you are Peter the Poor, you have read this and hopefully integrated it into your new way of thinking and have already started to apply it.

If you are still Peter the Poor, or if you are Peter the Rich and you are going through a difficult time, remember the joy you felt in your good times, the confidence you had in yourself, the optimism about your future... In short, remember those moments when you saw life as rosy!

Afterwards, you had some downturns and you plunged again into unhappiness, dissatisfaction with less and less desire to try new ideas... But it was the solution!

If you are Peter the Rich, and everything is going well for you, don't fall into the routine of being rich, satisfied in love and happy to be lucky on a regular basis... Don't fall into the routine.

Continue to appreciate each day for what it is worth: the joy, the security, the confidence, the ease... Rejoice in the efforts you have made to get to where you are!

Indeed, if Peter the Poor in his youth became Peter the Rich in his adulthood, it is because he did not give up. He never gave up and was never impressed by his failures. He learned from them and applied them to his daily life.

Success through failure!

If you imagine that all rich people became rich because they were lucky, because they had a lot of money or because they were heirs and that the obstacles smoothed themselves out in front of them to fly with ease from success to success... It is time to change your mentality!

In reality, if you go back to what I said in the previous chapter and read the biographies or see documentaries about the rich, you will see that:

- 1- Like you: they have known moments of happiness alternating with more difficult periods.
- 2- Like you: they have suffered failures and sometimes even several in a row before succeeding in their field.

The difference with the average person is that all people like Peter the Rich have persevered. They never fell into discouragement. They succeeded with time, patience and unwavering faith to achieve their goals.

Whether you are Peter the Poor and aspire to become one or Peter the Rich or were one briefly: make yours the moral of Jean de la Fontaine in "The Lion and the Rat" which was: "Patience and length of time do more than Strength or Rage!"

I could even say: "Patience, Hope, Regularity and Courage are more important than Strength, Despair or Rage!"

Similarly, there is no such thing as fate and "We all have", as Albert Einstein said: "The fate we deserved!"

There is no moral lesson in these words, no criticism or attempt to make anyone feel guilty, but it is the expression of the truth.

Peter the Rich decided that his destiny was not predetermined and in his own way he got out of the way.

He knew how to defy the learned principles, the ready-made ideas, the human pressure exerted on him by society and his family... to decide to live the life he liked by sailing uncharted waters and by abandoning his reference points. That's not why he went off in all directions.

He made his path, day after day, and as long as he follows this discipline and his intuition, he will continue to progress, slowly but surely, towards the life that suits him, without it happening by itself.

The stars helped him to make his Star sign shine by sending him signs in the form of warnings when he was going in the wrong direction.

Setbacks, failures, adversaries, dead ends... were the signs he knew how to understand and admit. Peter knew how to understand when the Asters were sending him trials and how to act to get around them!

To stay Peter the Rich

Apply the creative visualization in the following way:

- 1- Stay in a quiet place where no one will bother you for 20 minutes.
- 2- Imagine your problem in a realistic way by feeling the associated negative emotions (sadness, disappointment, regrets...). This problem is: You feel that you are currently in a situation comparable to that of Peter the Rich and you have a Star sign and the assets to succeed.
- 3- Then, see yourself continuing to lead the life of your dreams. You really need to visualize YOU enjoying the benefits you are seeking: material or spiritual.
- 4- Review the way you changed your mindset that allowed you to become rich and to take the steps towards wealth, sentimental balance or the attraction of luck.
- 5- End the session by making a promise to yourself to extend and improve your current situation marked by success with the people you love, enjoying great financial ease, in the house of your dreams with the person who is right for you, settling your debts, with good luck at gambling...!
- 6- Then spend the rest of the day with this image in mind.
- 7- The solutions to your problems will always end up appearing, without a doubt, in a different form than the previous times because situations never appear exactly the same.

8- Once again and always: YOU are the only person who can change your life by your appropriate actions!

If you are Peter the Rich, or if you aspire to become one, here is a summary of what you must do:

- 1- Always believe in yourself because you have, like everyone else, transformative abilities within you. Also, believe in your Star sign which is just waiting to be (re)activated.
- 2- If there is one person who can help you, it is you!
- 3- Don't lose sight of the fact that "being rich" means: "improving your financial situation but also realizing your dreams, having a fulfilling emotional life while being able to prevent problems or solve them when they arise".
- 4- Always make the most of your failures! They are there to help you succeed and discover your hidden abilities.
- 5- "Patience, Hope, Consistency and Courage do more than Strength, Despair or Rage!"
- 6- Do not hesitate to try, to hesitate, to grope, even to make mistakes.... This is the way to success, happiness and enrichment.
- 7- Imagine things in a positive way by telling yourself that there is a solution to every problem using creative visualization!
- 8- Take action by applying your resolutions to your daily life.

If you are Peter the Rich, you are also advised to read chapter 7 on Martin the Poor as a priority.

Chapter 6

HOW NOT TO "TURN OFF PREMATURELY YOUR STAR SIGN?" IF YOU HAVE THE RIGHT ASSETS OF MARTIN THE RICH!

Unfortunately, having a Star sign is not enough to continue to benefit from positive astral influences.

In fact, if you have a Star sign and you don't know how to take advantage of it, or if you wait passively for it to favor you: after a while, it will stop shining!

It is already a good base if you have good living conditions, but you have to maintain this Star sign.

It's like having beautiful plants: if you don't water them regularly and give them the right care, they will dry out, get diseases and eventually die.

Don't let your plant dry out!

We can compare our Star sign to a plant that also needs its "fertilizer" and "water" to continue to shine.

A Star sign sends you its positive vibrations all the time. You just need to know how to attract and use them.

You must provide your plant (your Star sign) with fertilizer and water so that it can flourish: in other words, act in a positive way to attract beneficial influences that will allow you to succeed everywhere.

Your fertilizer and your "water" are your thoughts, words and actions that must be positive to make your Star sign grow.

In this way, your Star sign will not only continue to shine, but it will grow and provide you with the good vibrations you need to reach your maturity, the fullness of your means, to come into your own and to live the life of your dreams: with all the money, love and luck you need to flourish!

Mistakes that can extinguish your Star Sign

A common belief is that a person who has a Star sign only has to place himself under its protection to receive its good vibrations and all the possible benefits.

In other words, according to the most widespread idea, this lucky person could adopt a passive attitude, simply waiting for luck to favor him or her, or on demand: to always get out of trouble, to find a miracle solution to his or her problems, to always have money, love and luck no matter what he or she does...

If you think this, you will have to seriously consider changing your mindset. Otherwise, you will end up extinguishing your Star sign.

If you stop feeding plants or flowers, you can easily understand that they will eventually dry up and turn to dust!

It is the same with your Star sign! If you do not feed it with good vibrations through your thoughts, words and actions, it will gradually die out and you will no longer benefit from its beneficial radiation.

The first mistake you should not make is to wait passively for your Star sign to come to your aid permanently or on demand at any time according to your good will!

You should not take your Star sign as a given but as an asset, a privilege that you must maintain and exploit, for which you must show attention and care.

The second mistake to avoid is thinking that the solution will come from outside! This is often an easy excuse for many people not to act or to explain why they cannot do anything.

The main objections to doing nothing are like:

- 1- "I can't do anything because luck is just a matter of chance."
- 2- "It's not my fault, I'm a victim of circumstances and certain harmful people."
- 3- "I have been cursed and someone is angry with me for this or that reason."
- 4- "I have tried to ask people, relatives, specialists, I have read books or seen films on the subject but no one, no book and no film could help me!"

A popular proverb says: "When you want to get rid of your dog, you accuse him of having rabies!"

In other words, when someone wants to avoid doing something, they always find a good reason not to do it!

Here, in this case, many people find a thousands of excuses not to change: it's the fault of others, of circumstances, of bad luck, of fate, of the wind blowing in the wrong direction, of the black cat that one has just crossed...!

It is not a question of throwing the stone at anyone because, among the people who do not know how to exploit their possibilities, some put forward this justification of an unknown or external origin to do nothing while others are really convinced that a Star sign must favor them permanently, whatever they do, including when they do nothing and wait for luck without lifting a finger!

My purpose here is not to condemn anyone but to give concrete solutions to avoid letting your Star sign go out or, what would be more annoying, to end up believing that you don't have one!

Indeed, as long as you think you have a Star sign and you believe that you can reactivate it to "turn the power back", you have every chance of doing so quickly.

Also, convince yourself as quickly as possible that you are the only person who can show you the way. It may take some time to find out. You might as well start now: you'll save time!

This is not to say that you shouldn't take advice from others, but if you do, don't just "copy and paste" their ideas. Adapt them to your personal situation.

Every life is unique. If you follow someone else's advice to the letter, it is unlikely to work. If you use it in your own way, it may be helpful, but either way, no one but you can do anything for you, let alone know what's good for you!

Is your life not happy?

In the same way that people living a difficult period must always keep the hope of a better life by telling themselves that nothing is written.

If being poor all your life is not inevitable, being rich all your life is by no means assured either.

There is no insurance that guarantees you wealth and happiness for life. Just because you start in the first line of the race for happiness does not mean you will finish first!

It is possible that you give up along the way due to a lack of motivation or that you are obliged to stop following a "mechanical" incident, in other words: accidents in life such as failures, sentimental disappointments, break-ups, loss of money...

It will be up to you to make the most of your initial capital, in other words: your intelligence and your personal abilities.

To do this, don't waste any time and get to work as soon as possible because the sooner you start, the faster you will reach the goals you have set.

The great thing about being in Martin the Rich's position is that, for the time being, you are still in a good place and you have all your potential (your intelligence and abilities) intact.

I encourage you, whether you already know what you want to achieve as a goal or whether you have only a vague idea of it, to use the formidable powers of creative visualization so that you don't squander your current good fortune and so that your Star sign never goes out.

Visualize, Feel, Act, Succeed!

Thanks to creative visualization, you will imagine, in a very realistic way, a problem and its solution or a goal and its achievement by feeling the sensations you will experience when you will have solved the problem or when you will have reached your goal.

In the case of a problem, you must think about it by visualizing and feeling all the unpleasant aspects generated by it (a feeling of failure, fear, disappointment, sadness, anger...).

Then, imagine how you are going to solve it while experiencing the pleasant impressions that this resolution will make you live: the joy, the satisfaction of the accomplished duty, the pleasure to be rich, to know the sentimental balance, to take advantage of the benefits of life...

In the case of an objective to be reached, apply the same principle as before by feeling the unpleasant sensations of not having yet reached this objective (frustration, dissatisfaction, lack, boredom...).

Then, imagine your goal reached and the pleasant sensations that you will then experience continuously and what this will bring you!

Here are two practical examples, the first one will deal with your main objective of always staying in good conditions to succeed in your life.

The second example will show you how to achieve a specific goal: for example, to make money. You will then be able to adapt this method to the areas of emotional life and luck.

One last point before leaving you to your positive creative visualizations: positive intentions will be the best way to make your Star sign shine continuously, in any field.

The power of intention is unimaginable. When you apply this principle, you will see what you would consider today a real miracle happen in your life.

You will then understand that this has nothing to do with miracles, but it's the result of the application of astral laws and psychological principles.

You will then be able to apply this principle of the power of intention as many times as you wish with equally satisfying results.

Your creative visualization to keep your Star sign

- 1- Stay in a quiet place where no one will bother you for 20 minutes.
- 2- Imagine that you want more than anything else to keep the benefits and advantages of your current situation, i.e. your Star sign.
- 3- Imagine your main problem: You believe that you are currently in a situation comparable to that of Martin the Rich and that you will benefit from your Star sign, in the future, without having to make any effort for that, that it will always miraculously save you.
- 4- See yourself enjoying and continuing to enjoy your current advantages by detailing them, one after the other, and by feeling realistically the satisfaction they give you. Visualize the benefits you are seeking, whether material or spiritual.
- 5- End the session by making a promise to yourself to use your intelligence and abilities in the best possible way: with (your choice of) the people you love, enjoying great financial wealth, in your dream house with your other half, settling debts, being lucky at gambling...
- 6- Then spend the rest of the day with this image in mind, imagining, if you already know it, how you will get there.

If you don't know, leave the door open to all the opportunities that your mind will eventually bring to you on a platter if you practice creative visualization regularly.
- 7- With regular practice, let's say once a week, solutions will always appear but only you can apply them. Never forget that!

Your creative visualization to use your Star sign

Before practicing the method below, make a list of your main desires. Write down at least ten of them and then put them in your "order of preference", the order in which you want them to come true.

Then apply the method below and, once your first desire has been achieved, achieve your second desire... and so on.

Never move on to the realization of one of your desires until you have achieved the previous one.

1- Put yourself in a quiet place where no one will bother you for 20 minutes.

2- Imagine the first desire you want to achieve. See yourself, once you have reached your goal, mentally feeling all the pleasure it will give you. Mentally and confidently evoke the benefits you are seeking, whether they are material or spiritual.

3- End the session by making a promise to yourself that you will soon find yourself in the corresponding successful situation: with (your choice) the people you love, enjoying great financial ease, in the house of your dreams with the person you love, settling your debts, with good luck at gambling...!

4- Then spend the rest of the day with this image in mind, imagining how you will get there. If you don't know, open yourself up to all the suggestions your Star sign will send you, not closing the door on any possibility. If, on the other hand, you don't know how to solve your problem, don't worry. The inspirations will come to you spontaneously.

5- With regular practice, say once a week, solutions will always appear but only you can apply them. Never forget that!

If you are Martin the Rich: summary of what you should do:

1- The first mistake you should not do is to passively wait for your Star sign to help you. Change your state of mind because it is you who must act!

2- The second mistake to avoid is to think that the solution will come from outside!

3- Believe in yourself because you undoubtedly have within you untapped capacities for transformation. Also believe in your Star sign, which will never be extinguished.

4- Do not be arrogant or feel superior to others, especially those who are less fortunate or unlucky, because no one is safe from a bad blow from fate!

5- Your life won't be happy once and for all! It can have its ups and downs. To avoid this, it is up to you to make the most of your capital: your intelligence and your abilities.

6- Your positive intentions are the "fuel" of your Star sign.

7- If there is one person who can help you, it is you!

8- You must imagine things in a positive way by telling yourself that there is a solution to all problems by using creative visualization capable of accomplishing miracles!

9- Take action by applying your resolutions to your daily life.

If you are Martin the Rich, I advise you to read the following chapter 7 dedicated to Martin the Poor to avoid the same fate!

Chapter 7

HOW TO MAKE YOUR STAR SIGN SHINE AGAIN? IF YOU ARE MARTIN THE POOR AFTER HAVING BEEN MARTIN THE RICH

If you are Martin the Poor after having been Martin the Rich, you probably don't understand why you find yourself in this situation after having had or thinking you had a Star sign.

Avoid the blind captain syndrome!

You may know when you went off course, when you made that famous and embarrassing turn off course that caused you to deviate from the bright future you were promised. Unfortunately, afterwards, you could not and did not know how to get back on the right road.

So you took the side roads. Now: either you have reached a dead end or you don't really know where you stand. You are suffering from the "blind captain" syndrome.

That is to say, you are like a captain at the helm of his ship who, after having experienced pleasant crossing conditions, has let himself go and has been hit on the head by a mast during a storm which has blinded him. Result: the captain is still at the helm but he no longer knows where his ship is going!

You would like to return to your previous favorable conditions and take a leap into the past, to that happy period when everything seemed to be smiling at you, when you had all the assets in hand.

However, you have been waiting for your Star sign to favor you without doing anything special to make your dreams come true.

But it's not your fault: you were, in spite of yourself, the victim of a false conception of your Star sign. Now you may look up to the sky, but you don't see it shining anymore!

In short, you don't know which way to go! You may also not really see where you have gone wrong and you are desperate to find your past success assets: good starting conditions, a favorable environment, good people...

Because of your misconception of what a Star sign is, you have lost all or part of your wealth, your good living conditions, your supports, your relatives, your friends, your partners...

Even if this is the case, and no matter how difficult your current condition is, do not despair because your Star sign has not disappeared, because it is never lost forever.

You think you have lost everything? It is not possible. You still have the main thing: your intelligence and your personal abilities which are only dormant and which you no longer use because of your past failures.

You think you've learned your lesson and you won't be asked again! You have used all your resources, all your capacities before and this has led you to disaster, to the unsatisfactory condition that you live in every day with a more or less great but very real inner suffering!

If you believe that, you are wrong! Indeed, it is neither your intelligence nor your personal capacities that caused your loss but your bad use of them by dint of thinking that it was enough for you to wait for your Star sign to come to your aid!

But the fire is still smoldering under the ashes. Just blow on it and the flame will be rekindled. Then your Star sign can shine again.

So, all you have to do is to use your intelligence and your abilities in the right way to make your Star sign shine again.

How to reactivate your Star Sign!

You have a tremendous advantage over Peter the Poor, you have been rich in your life at one time or another, or you have benefited from the conditions to be rich, during a certain period.

You have known joy, the satisfaction of your deepest desires, financial or sentimental periods with lucky events...

Peter the Poor, for his part, started from a difficult situation in his childhood where he had perhaps not been really unhappy but not completely happy either. He had experienced a "gray" childhood and adolescence. In any case, he had not experienced your good living conditions.

He had not experienced any great suffering, but no great joys either. Only short moments of luck: ephemeral flashes of light in the darkness of his existence. His life, before the beginning of adulthood, had had a tone largely more negative than positive.

This is not your case because you have previously known, concretely and for a long time, joys, good situations, a rather favorable material and psychological environment!

How to find favorable living conditions again

Do not try to find the same living conditions as in the past because it will not be possible. You will certainly be able to experience a new period of prosperity, but it will be in a different way.

Lady Fortune never has the same aspects twice! In other words: luck never presents itself in the same way for many reasons: you have changed, you have your past experience, you no longer live in the same era, you are in a situation that is different... unfortunately not as good!

Also, your state of mind is different and you don't think like you did in the past because, since then, you have experienced many ordeals that have had a negative impact... It is now time to learn from them.

It is essential if you want to progress. This is the deepest meaning of failures: to warn you that you are not on the right track, that you are not using the right means to succeed.

Failures force you to consider new solutions and take initiative because the old solutions and ideas that you have been practicing, sometimes for years, have not been helpful or no longer work. It's time to try something else.

Creative Visualization to the rescue

Creative visualization is a very powerful method that can help you create new behaviors that will make your Star sign shine again, so that you can make up for lost opportunities from the past in new ways.

Apply creative visualization in the following way:

- 1- Stay in a quiet place where no one will bother you for 20 minutes.
- 2- Visualize your current situation in a general way with the associated emotional charge. For example, become aware of the stress you feel at the mere mention of the situation or of your fears about the future if you do not change anything in your life.
- 3- Visualize yourself in the situation you would like to return to or the one you would like to experience in the future. It doesn't matter because your creative visualization will program your brain to come up with the most appropriate ideas for the situation, the ones that will best suit your personality.
- 4- Then, see yourself feeling the pleasant impressions you are expecting in your new life.
- 5- End the session by making a promise to yourself that you will soon find yourself in the corresponding successful situation: with (your choice) the people you love, enjoying great financial ease, in the house of your dreams with the person who loves you, settling your debts, with good luck at gambling...!
- 6- Then spend the rest of the day with this image in mind with the regularity of this practice, say once a week. The solutions always appear eventually but only you can apply them. Never forget that!

Summary: If you are Martin the Poor, here is what you need to do:

- 1- First, believe in yourself because you, like everyone else, have unimaginable transformative abilities. But also believe in your star sign, which only needs to be reactivated to serve you well.
- 2- If there is one person who can help you, it is you!
- 3- Try to get back to the state of mind you had when you were enjoying your previous favorable conditions but not in the same form because times and yourself have changed since then.
- 4- Learn from your failures, which should not be considered as misfortunes but as indications that you are not on the right track and as opportunities to change what is not working.
- 5- Above all, do not repeat the mistakes of the past if you have let things deteriorate or if you have not acted because you were expecting a miracle from your Star sign.
- 6- You must imagine things in a positive way by telling yourself that there is a solution to all problems by using creative visualization capable of working miracles! You will do it all the more if you have already experienced such emotions, impressions, situations... pleasant and motivating, on a regular or intermittent basis.
- 7- Take action quickly in your daily life.

You will quickly get back on track and, this time, learning from the past, you will give yourself the best chances to succeed in whatever you undertake.

Don't wait until it's too late. Take action before things start to go wrong again.

Your success will then prove to you that the cause of your failures was not the result of bad luck and that your predicament was the consequence of a misconception of what your Star sign can be.

CONCLUSION

A LOT OF STAR SIGNS

Whether you are, at the moment: Peter the Rich, Peter the Poor, Martin the Rich or Martin the Poor... you know, now, that your destiny is not fixed in advance and that you are the real master of it.

In fact, the main person responsible for the influence of your Star sign on you... is you.

If the conjunction of the planets, at the time of your birth, has indeed given a more or less favorable astral tone to your life, nothing has ever been determined once and for all and definitively! You can change the course of your life, you just have to believe in it fully and act through your positive thoughts without ever believing in any fatality!

The main factor influencing your Star sign!

The result of the disposition of the planets and the influence of their positive and negative effects has simply given the tendency of your Star sign at the moment of your birth... but you can modify this tendency during your existence, at any moment and whenever you wish.

So nothing is written in advance. Everything is constantly changing: the world around you, your habits, yourself...

This is how Peter the Poor became Peter the Rich and Martin the Rich went the opposite way to become Martin the Poor.

But, after all, did Peter only need to be poor to appreciate the quality of being rich?

Likewise, Martin the Rich had to go through the Martin the Poor phase to understand the truths of life and appreciate what was effortlessly given to him at birth.

It is a known fact that anything that is easily acquired or given is not as valuable as what you can build with your own hands!

Every situation has its reason

The lesson to be drawn from all this is that, whatever your current situation (Peter the Poor, Peter the Rich, Martin the Rich, Martin the Poor), none is less good or better than another!

The purpose of your current situation is to help you understand the meaning of your existence. To do this, according to your abilities, your character and your hopes: you need to be one of these four characters at this moment. You will understand why sooner or later.

Anyway, the way you transform your current situation will bring you closer to the life that suits you best.
